

HOME SPONSORSHIP

Families who have been displaced are left without shelter, food, or protection because they lack access to adequate housing.

Today, the number of people living in slums is estimated around 881 million in developing countries only.

In Sub-Saharan Africa, 59% of the urban population lives in slums; in Asia and the Pacific, home to half of the urban population of the world, that percentage drops to 28% of the population, while in Latin and Caribbean countries it passed from 30% to 21% over the last decade.

Having access to quality affordable housing is fundamental to reduce poverty, improve equal opportunities and guarantee sustainable growth.

Uthman ibn Affan reported, the Prophet peace and blessings be upon him, said:

“There is no right for the son of Adam except in these things: a house in which he lives, a garment to cover his nakedness, a piece of bread and water.”

The foundation of safe, secure housing can dramatically reduce child mortality and morbidity rates as well as reducing the problems of ill health more generally.

Shelter and housing provide a place for families to cook, eat, sleep, and raise their children. It protects them from extreme temperatures, strong winds, and storms. Shelter provides privacy and safety from human and animal enemies.
